

Ged Barlow

Managing Director, C-Tech Innovation Ltd.

Ged is Managing Director of C-Tech Innovation Ltd, one of the UK's leading industrial research, innovation and knowledge transfer companies. He is also Group Chair of Infogauge Ltd, the holding company for C-Tech's subsidiary technology companies and equity holdings. The company has significant interests in the development and exploitation of innovative new technologies and ideas and is an equity shareholder in a number of specialist early stage technology businesses.

Prior to this, he also held senior commercial and general management posts in EA Technology (Energy Utilities), ICI (Speciality Chemicals) and Courtaulds Textiles (Fabric Manufacture). He has held a number of government policy technical and advisory roles, primarily in the areas of energy and sustainability. Ged is also a member of the CBI's North West Regional Council, the Chartered Institute of Marketing. He holds a BSc (Hons) in Applied Chemistry from Loughborough University and an MA in Management from Lancaster University. Ged leads on the Board of the LEP in the areas of Energy and Innovation.